MRS. EASTLAKE FEARED NURSE WOULD MURDER

Told Woman Friend She Believed Miss Knox Was About to Kill Her

WAS TO QUIT HUSBAND

Murdered Woman Was Preparing to Return to Her Former Home in Philadelphia.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 8.—Evidence that may prove extremely damaging to the stoically reiterated statements of Miss Sarah E. Knox, 48-year-old nurse, that she is not guilty of the murder of Mrs. Margaret Eastlake, at Colonial Beach, Va., a week ago, was brought to light today in an interview with Mrs. Rachel Collins, intimate friend and neighbor of the murdered woman, at the Potomac River resort, eighty miles southeast of Washington.

Mrs. Collins declared that at the time Mrs. Eastlake was slain she was planning to leave her husband. Roger D. Eastlake, jointly accused with Miss Knox of murder, and go to Philadelphia with her two children, to escape the violence which she feared at the hands of the nurse She planned, Mrs. Collins, said, to make her home with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Mabel Chambers. Eastlake is a son of Mrs. Mabel E. Eastlake, of 7419 Boyer street, Mt. Airy, Philadelphia.

Although Eastlake has expressed his conviction that Miss Knox killed his wife, he is steadfast in maintaining his own innocence, while the nurse has insisted throughout the ggrilling to which she has been subjected that both she and her fellow-prisoner are innocent. Both are in the city jail here in solitary confinement.

Mrs. Collins, in her statement to T. K. Boulware, a Colonial Beach private detective, declared that Mrs. Eastlake had often told her of her troubles in regard to her husband and his "sweetheart" nurse, and that just a few days before the murder she had come to her house in terror, stating the belief that Miss Knox would kill her.

"'I am wretched,'" Mrs. Collins said she exclaimed, "'I believe that woman is about to kill me.'

"I told her not to worry," Mrs. Collins continued, "as she probably was mistaken, and her rival intended to do no bodily harm, but she seemed to have a foreboding of death. 'What will my poor little children do?" she sobbed. I tried in vain to comfort her, but she was in a talkative mood She said she had asked her husband about the other woman, and that he had promised to stop writing to Miss Knox. She declared that Dr. Duff, a naval surgeon, stationed at the proving ground, ten miles from Colonial Beach, had given her a good talking to, told her it was foolish for her to be jealous and to cut it out.

"She also said Miss Knox herself had visited her and promised her not to come to Colonial Beach any more or to bother her husband.

The Allison W. C. T. U., will hold its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Kerrick, 226 North Alfred street, Monday night at 8 o'clock.

YANKS SWAMPED GIANTS MAKE 8 IN ONE INNING

McGraw's Men Overcome Early Lead and Gain Overwhelming Victory

FINAL SCORE 13 TO 5

National Leaguers Pound American Pitchers for 20 Hits in Third Game Of Series.

New York, Oct. 8.—The Giants awoke from their two days of lethargy today and sprinkled the greensward at the Polo Ground with such a shower of hits that the Yankees were swamped under a score of 13 to 5, in the third game of the world series.

The National Leaguers had gone runless for twenty innings, up to the third session of this afternoon's struggle. Then the outbreak of hitting started.

Stealing the Yankees' thunder, as the latter had stolen theirs in the previous games of the series in speed and daring on the bases, John McGraw's men, after spotting their American League opponents to a four-run lead, promptly canceled this advantage, driving Bob Shawkey, who had started for Miller Huggins' team, off the mound in the third inning. Then, after the score had run along in a tie for three more innings, they broke out with an orgy of hitting against second-string Yankee pitchers in the traditional "lucky seventh" inning, putting over eight runs in this chapter and piling up a total of thirteen runs and twenty hits in their eight innings at the bat.

Despite its one-sidedness, the game was of the sort that tickles the fancy of the average baseball crowd, and today's throng, despite the partisan leanings of a goodly portion of it, was no exception. The game was full of thrills, brilliant catches, daring base running, and, on the Giant side, long distance hitting.

The crowd, with perfect baseball weather to bring it out, was a record-breaker for this series. More than 36,500 fans jammed the stands and bleachers. They broke the series record for noise and enthusiasm as well. The turn of the Yankee adherents came first, but the hubbub they kicked up was as nothing to that let loose by the Giant fans when their opportunity arrived.

With the McGraw clan riding rough-shod over their opponents, the National League partisans unlimbered their vocal cords, their cowbells and rattlers, heretofore subdued, and played the game as hard from their seats as their favorites did on the diamond. At times whole sections of the stands seemed to be composed of seething waves of yelling humanity. The Yankee supporters were dumb after the third inning and the close of the conflict became a Giant carnival.

Messrs. R. J. Dunn, L. W. Wallace, and J. E. Scales, in passing through Alexandria stopped with friends for a short visit. They are en route to Staunton. Mr. Wallace's former home. Mr. Wallace has recently been made Eastern Sales Manager for the American Tobacco Company.

Collins to the convention of the Virginia Real Estate Association at the Monticello Hotel this afternoon.

Danville,—The army worm has made its reappearance in this section, a field of alfalfa on the farm of Rice Gwynn being found to be infected. The worms were eating their way toward the Virginia line, and they were met there by W. M. Perry, county demonstration agent, who undertook an offensive against them by spreading a mixture of lime and Paris green in their path.

Danville—Sixty-three diphtheria carriers were found in Danville last month, examination being made by the city bacteriologist, S. B. Clamans, of 243 throat cultures. The distribution of this dividend will materially stimulate business in this section.

Lexington—The authorities at Washington and Lee University this year are giving especial attention to the enlargement of the enginering department. This department, formerly the school of engineering in Washington College, was established in 1866 by Geenral Robert E. Lee. The first professor in charge was Colonel William Allan, who had been chief ordnance officer in the Second corps of the Army of Northern Virginia. Colonel Allan was followed by General Custis Lee, who was later succeeded by Professor D. C. Humphreys, whose death last winter ended a long and successful term of office.

Richmond—Replying to inquiries from several sections as to the propriety and party obligation demanding that Democratic voters support in an election the nominees of their party, whether named in primary, by committee, or in convention a pronouncement has been made by E. Lee Trinkle, Democratic gubernatorial nominee; Congressman H. D. Flood, state chairman; W. W. Sale, former adjutant general of Virginia and Campaign manager for Mr. Trinkle, and by Harry H. Smith, Jr., of Richmond, the well known criminal lawyer, among the foremost members of the State bar These four authorities all express a unanimity of opinion that it would be subversive and destructive of the primary system should the voters not support the party nominee. Also that there is an implied party and moral obligation on the part of the voters to support the choice and nominee of their party.

CATHOLIC ALUMNAE

Virginia Chapter Holds Annual Convention in Richmond

The various meetings were held at the different academies and Murphy's Hotel, where so many of the guests stayed. Rt. Rev. D. J. O'Connell, Bishop of Richmond, opened the convention with prayer and a short address, and at the closing exercises the Reverend Dr. E. B. Jordan, of the Catholic University at Washington, delieverd a brilliant address. Speaking of the duties of Catholic women, he said in part as follows:

"Your duty is to uphold the standard of Christian womanhood and show the world at large what a Catholic woman is and what she can do. You stand for the sacredness of the home, inviolability of the marriage bond, Catholic education of the child, stemming of the tide of divorce, uplifting of the state, cleanness of the theatre and the purifying of political life."

UPSHAW URGES PROBE OF ALL SECRET ORDERS

DEMANDS FAIR PLAY

Says Public Has Right To Know Meaning of Startling Titles Constantly Heard.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Investigations of "each and every secret organization in the United States" was called for in a resolution introduced today by Representative Upshaw, Democrat, Georgia.

Proposed as a supplement to efforts to investigate the Ku Klux Klan, Mr. Upshaw declared in a statement that he felt a sort of wounded pride in hearing many criticisms hurled at the klan which was organized in his district and whose imperial wizard "one of the knightlyiest most patriotic men I have ever known,"

Declaring the public would comment the fairness of this resolution to investigate concurrently with the Ku Klux all other organizations holding meetings behind closed doors, Mr. Upshaw added:

"If imperial wizard and grand goblin are titles to make plain people shudder (and they are) then these same plain people have a right to know the meaning of such other startling titles as "imperial potentate" "most puissant and illustrious grand master," "grand exalted ruler," "mighty chief of the wampum" and a thousand other weird titles of secret order officials who seem about to fascinate the majority of the American freemen into joining mystic conclaves of inscrutible words and deeds. Investigation might cause embarrassment to some, inconvenience to others and temporary strife among foolish factions but the clouds will soon blow away, public confidence will be restored, and it seems to me every good "sport" and every American will welcome the light."

Bible Thought for Today

WHAT DOES GOD REQUIRE?—And now, Israel, what does the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul.—Deuteronomy 10:12.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

Washington, Oct. 8.—The keenest gratification was expressed at the State Department today over word from Australia that three of the British dominions, presumably Australia, New Zealand and Canada, will have representation on the British delegation to the conference on the limitation of armaments. From the time of the conception of the conference it has been the hope of this government that the British dominions would be represented at the conference, and, far from placing obstacles in the way of dominion representation, this government has done everything possible to encourage it. Statements attributed to Premier Hughes of Australia that separate Australian representation at the conference was blocked by this government have no foundation in fact, it was declared today, and much doubt is expressed as to whether Premier Hughes ever said anything of the sort.

It is declared on the very highest authority that President Harding will give no heed whatsoever to demands of George Sylvester Veireck and other German-Americans in this country for the appointment of an Ambassador to Berlin acceptable to them and that if anything, he would be inclined to be prejudiced against candidates for the place endorsed by Veireck and his outfit.

The impression has been current in Washington for sometime that the President would appoint Ellis Loring Dresel, now High Commissioner at Berlin, as the next Ambassador to Germany. Dresel was appointed to his present place by President Woodrow Wilson, although he is generally regarded as a Republican in politics. He hails from Boston and is perhaps in more thorough touch with German affairs than any member of the Diplomatic or consular corps of the United States and any other man who has been mentioned for this important post. A telegram sent to President Harding by the Steuben Society of America bears the signature of F. O Dettman, Secretary General. It denounces both Mr. Dresel and Dr David Jayne Hill, former Ambassador to Berlin as Anglo-maniacs. The appointment of Dresel is believed to hinge only on his accentability to the Berlin government, which, of course is necessary.

Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll and her son Charles, mother and brother respectively of the notorious draft dodger who have filed suit in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia against Col. Thomas W. Miller, Alien Property Custodian, because of his seizure of the Bergdoll property under the Trading with the Enemy Act recently, evidently fear to bring suit within their home jurisdiction. Only last week they filed suits before the U. S. District Court in Philadelphia but later withdrew their papers and are now suing the Custodian before the courts of the District of Columbia.

This will make no difference in the government's suit against these people which has already been filed in Philadelphia to compel compliance with the law by Mrs. Bergdoll on account of guardianship of her son's property.

Representative Sydney Anderson, of Minnesota, chairman of that joint commission of agricultural inquiry has sent a letter to the American Bankers Association in convention at Los Angeles, expressing his views concerning agricultural credits in relation to the federal reserve system. He declares that elements touching discount policies determining agricultural credits are no different than those determining discount policies with respect to credit in other lines.

"Discount rates in such a period," he said, "should be such as to permit of extension of credit for production purposes without inducing borrowing on the part of banks for profit and consequent speculative expenditure. The factor which limits the extension of adequate loans of necessary credit is the extension of banks in sections where demand is greatest. Existing machinert is inadequate in that it fails to provide credit of a maturity consistent with the farmers' turnover and his ability to pay from the proceeds of the farm."

The Republican administration is getting rid of Democratic office holders, including U. S. Attorneys and Marshals, just as fast as "deserving Republicans" can be found to take the places of the appointees of President Wilson. Civil Service or no Civil Service, four-year terms or no four-year terms, make no difference in the situation. Republicans are hungry for a taste of political pie and they must be rewarded no matter what the consequences may be. Further removals may be expected within the next few weeks.

The regular October meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club will be held Tuesday evening, in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. Supper will be served promptly at 7 o'clock, and during the course of the supper an attractive program will be carried out Also the business meeting will be conducted while seated around the table.

FOR SCHOOL BOARD

Mrs. C. W. Howell Being Urged to Make Race By Her Friends

A woman may make the race for the city school board when city council fills the expired terms of four members of that body. Friends of Mrs. Charles W. Howell are endeavoring to have her enter the contest from the second ward. The incumbent in that ward is Dr. S. H. Lunt.

When city council again holds a joint session it is regarded as probable that the name of Mrs. Howell will be presented to council for its consideration.

At the present time there is not a woman on the city school board. The terms of four school trustees have expired and council at its last meeting it was expected would hold a joint session for the purpose of filling the vacancies. However, no joint session was held. Whether or not city council will hold a joint session at its next meeting next Tuesday night and elect school trustees is not known.

ELECTION OF COUNCILMEN POPULAR TOPIC

Five To Be Chosen Next June For New Form

8 MONTHS TO WAIT

Believe There Will Be Many Who Will Later Throw Their Hats Into Ring.

Now that the election for the council manager plan form of city government is over the question already being discussed is, "Who will be the five councilmen chosen in the election next June? Names of many citizens have been suggested by their friends as possible good councilmanic timber. No one thsu far, has, however, made any formal announcement of their candidacy. Almost all of those whose names have been mentioned in connection with the contest, have declared it is entirely too early to think seriously of entering a race which will not take place till next June. There is exactly eight months in which to wait by those aspiring to the position.

Those in a position to know declare that there will be an abundance of candidates for the voters to pick from at the election next June.

It also is pointed out that it is generally believed that the race will attract more voters than the recent contest for council manager plan in which only about 1800 votes were cast with a majority of 1167 for the new form.

There are 3875 votes persons qualified to vote in this city and it is generally believed that most of the two thousand odd persons who failed to vote in that election will participate in the coming election.

Another question being freely discussed and which probably will be made an issue in the coming election is the selection of the business manager. Many favor an out of town man for the place and then again there are some who are not opposed to a local man. Doubtless this question will play an important part in the June election and may be used by some of the candidates in their campaign.

Benefits that may be derived from the new form of city government already are being discussed by citizens. Speculation is rife over the result to be obtained. Supporters of the change predict a general improvement will result.

As heretofore stated in these columns the form of government will not, however, become operative till September 1, 1922, when the five councilmen elected in June will take their seats and they are the men who will select a business manager.

HOUSE LEADERS REVOLT ON NEW TAX INCREASES

Serve Notice They Will Not Agree to Additional Levies on Higher Incomes

SENATORS PROTEST

Accuse Committee on Finance of Yielding to Radical Element of Party.

Washington, Oct. 8.—The taxation troubles of the Republican leadership in the Senate increased today when the House bucked against a part of the compromise program forced in the Senate by the Democratic and insurgent Republican combination.

Representative Mondell, Republican floor leader in the House, and Chairman Fordney, of the Ways and Means Committee, are said to have given notice to Senator Penrose and other leaders of the Senate that the lower chamber would not stand for increasing the surtaxes on higher incomes to a 50 per cent maximum. The House limit, it was stated, is a 32 per cent maximum surtax.

The increase to 50 per cent had been accepted by Senator Penrose and other conservatives of the Finance Committee in their efforts to save the Taxation bill by yielding to most of the demands of the opposition combination. Other concessions made to the bipartisan insurgent group included repeal of all the transportation taxes at the end of this year, re-enactment of the Capital Stock tax, increases in the Inheritance taxes, repeal of the majority of the so-called "nuisance taxes" and a revision of the corporation tax schedule.

The House leaders indicated they might go along in the interest of harmony on most of the changes proposed, but it should be known right now that the lower body would kick over the traces on a maximum surtax on incomes of 50 per cent. It was contended by the House leaders that the Ways and Means Committee had determined upon a 32 per cent. maximum, the Republican caucus had apporved this figure and the Republican House had ratified it.

In conversations between the leaders of the two bodies, House spokesmen are understood to have charged that the Senate is becoming the radical body of Congress and its Finance Committee was yielding to the radical element in the party. This element was accused, more or less, of playing politics with taxation rates an dendeavoring to make capital back home.

Adding to the difficulties of the Finance Committee, which took no formal action today on the compromise program as substantially agreed upon yesterday, Republican Senators from the industrial East joined with the House leaders in rejecting the higher income surtax proposals. This developed another insurgent group among the G. O. P. and demonstrated that no sooner are the Western Senators of the "agricultural bloc" mollified than the East rebels. Eastern Senators said to be discontented with the surtax compromise included Brandegee, Connecticut; Calder, New York; Edge, New Jersey; McLean, Connecticut, and Moses, New Hampshire.

Mr. Kirk E. Wallace, of the Y. M. C. A., went to Fredericksburg yesterday in the interest of the Older Boys Conference which is to be held in Lynchburg on October 14, 15, 16. Alexandria will be represented at this conference by delegates from St. Paul's, Southern Methodist, First Baptist, and Second Baptist Sunday Schools and the Alexandria High School.

On Sunday, Oct 9, 3:30 p. m. at the Shipyard Gridiron the Virginia A. C. will line up against the fast and heavy Seaman Gunners Eleven of the Washington Navy Yard. Everyone in town knows that the Gunners have a good team, and those enjoy a good, clean, straight game of football will be on the Shipyard grounds before the whistle blows at 3:00 p. m. Sunday. When it comes to football the Virginians can hand you the real thing, and you are doing yourself an injustice when you fail to come down and give them the "Once-over", for they are the spirit of the town. Next Sunday the National A. C. a 160 lb. team will journey from Washington to pay the Virginians a visit, and the following Sunday the Orange and Blue boys will face the Knickerbockers in the famous Knicks Hollow. HARDING'S LETTER AGAIN!

We take pleasure in publishing a letter from Charles S. Stoler, of the Alexandria Republican Club, in today's issue. Mr. Stoler refers to the Virginia gubernatorial vote in the last election. It is notorious that in all the states the vote for governor is never as large as for the national candidate in the presidential elections. The vote for Cox in 1920 was 141,670, as against 87,458 for Harding, a total of 229,128 votes, which would compare favorably with the vote in other Southern states. As to Mr. Stoler's vague prophecy as to what the 1920 census will show as to the total vote in the state, we say nothing at present.

We regret that we cannot agree with Mr. Stoler when he says that the President's letter was distinctly a non-partisan appeal. It was written by an Ohio Republican to the chairman of a Virginia Republican Club, to be used in the present state campaign for partisan purposes. That it would have a partisan effect was undoubtedly believed by both Mr. Harding and Mr. Stoler; otherwise we are sure that a Republican Club would not have sent it to the state press to be published. Mr. Stoler is the chairman of the publicity committee of that same club; a club organized for the purpose of aiding and abetting the candidates for office this year, on the Republican ticket. The Club is neither organized for non-partisan purposes, nor with the altruistic design of increasing the Democratic vote. Neither was Mr. Harding's letter written with the latter motive. Mr. Stoler, evidently being high in the councils of his Party, undoubtedly knows that the Republican leaders are using desperate efforts to make inroads on the Democratic majorities in the Southern states. They have probably agreed on certain lines of attack, and Mr. Harding's letter is doubtless in conformity to the general plan.

If, however, we are mistaken in this matter, and Mr. Harding and Mr. Stoler are solely actuated by disinterested motives, we can only thank them courteously for their well-meant but misspent endeavors.

We are deeply interested in Mr. Stoler's little flight into the realm of theoretical politics. If written by Mr. Stoler, we can compliment him on his really classic style. It sounds rather like an attempt by a young college instructor employed by the National Republican Publicity Committee. We are somewhat partial to it, however, and would encourage Professor Stoler to continue his studies in the same admirable direction.

We must take issue with the writer, nevertheless, most emphatically on the last paragraph in his valued communication. When he says, or it is said for him, that there is no race question connected with this situation, he is fearfully mistaken. That question is one of the most serious problems that confronts the United States today. Furthermore, it is a question of the South, in the South, and must be settled by the South. No Republican quibbling, such as was indulged in by the recent Republican State Convention, can ever conceal it or sidetrack it. Until the Republican Party shall change its spots, as impossible to it as to the leopard, the Democratic Party must bear the burden of its solution alone. That it can solve it, that it will solve it, there is no doubt. But it will tolerate no interference by the Republican Party, either through its national or its state spokesmen. Moreover, it is so intimately interwoven in the social and political life of the Southern people, that it enters into every question that touches upon the electoral franchise. So far from "dragging the race question into the discussion" we found it there, ostrich-like, hiding its head and disclosing its tail-feathers. As to our "distortion of the English language"—if we have been guilty of this, we apologize—to the English language!

How Buick Accessibility Saves Owners Time and Money
Buick cars are built so they can be operated with a minimum of expense. If a part needs attention it is easily accessible. For instance, adjusting or putting a new fan belt on a Buick is a job that is handled by the owner in a few minutes. Buick invites comparison.

BACKACHE IS A WARNING

Alexandria People Should Not Neglect Their Kidneys

Backache is often nature's most frequent signal of weakened kidneys. To cure the pains and aches, to remove the lameness when it arises from weakened kidneys, you must reach the cause—the kidneys. If you have pain through the small of your back, urinary disorders, headaches, dizzy spells, or are nervous and depressed, start treating the kidneys with a tested kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills have been proved good and are especially for weak kidneys. Doan's have been used in kidney trouble for over 50 years. Read Alexandria testimony.

Mrs. N. Bostwick, 21 Rosemont Ave., says: "I have had experience with Doan's Kidney Pills and have received excellent results. My back caused me no end of misery especially when I was on my feet very much. My head ached frequently, too. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me good relief and soon made a cure that has lasted for years."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Bostwick had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Luxury of 8-Cylinder Performance at an Amazingly Lower Price

IN these days when automobile buying is submitted to the acid test of value, we believe you will admit that any car that attains leadership in its particular field must have sound reasons for doing so.

Bearing in mind these facts, we confidently submit an unequivocal statement about the Oldsmobile 8-cylinder, Model "47." We hope you will take the trouble not merely to accept or reject it, but to verify it with your own personal judgment.

And that is this. In view of its recently reduced price, of its performance-records all over the country, and of the universal enthusiasm for the car wherever it is known, we believe that no motor car of the present day represents a greater exchange-per-dollar value.

As you know, the main reason for 8-cylinder design is a minimum of vibration for a greater and smoother application of power at all speeds—with less strain on the motor and all parts of the car.

The Oldsmobile "47" represents the very latest design in 8-cylinder refinement. To the best accepted 8-cylinder principles in this country and abroad it has added ideas and improvements that are not obtainable in cars of earlier design.

The reason, in a word, for the outstanding success of the Oldsmobile "47" is the exemplification of 8-cylinder driving luxury in a graceful, well-designed car of comparatively light weight and unusually modest price.

We can ask no greater favor than that you carefully inspect its graceful appearance, its refinements of design, appointments and quality of basic material.

Ride in this car—drive it yourself. For once you actually experience its ease in handling—and above all the wonderful range and comfort of its driving performance—we will gladly abide by the verdict of your unbiased judgment.

THE LATEST REO IS READY!

Reo motor car company is out with announcement of another new model and one the type and price of which will set trade tongues a wagging again.

This latest Reo is a light seven passenger model and the Reo folk contend this will be the standard type for touring in future.

At any rate it will constitute the standard and the only Reo type of touring model.

"For a long time we have felt a strong demand for a car of greater capacity than the former standard five passenger type" says Sales Manager Ruesenaw "but the demand also called for a car of smaller size than sevens had been.

"There was the problem—to obtain the seating capacity without unduly lengthening the wheel base or making the car so big and cumbersome that the fuel and upkeep costs would be prohibitive to buyers of modest means.

"Gipsying," cross-country and trans-continental touring have increased in popularity at an amazing rate during the past few years," says the Reo Sales head. "but ninety-five per cent of those who enjoy out of doors and touring prefer to drive themselves and they want a car that is readily handled on narrow trails and winding roads.

"Reo engineers and body designers have worked for a long time on the problem and have finally developed a seven passenger car that we think is ideal in every respect.

"By conserving every inch of space and converting what had been waste space into passenger capacity they have solved the problem and produced a car that seats seven amply and yet is but little larger than the five.

"When the auxiliary seats are not needed they fold neatly out of sight and then you have an over-size five passenger car with room for suitcases and other impedimentia.

"By making this model our exclusive standard and concentrating our facilities on its production to the exclusion of a five passenger model, we are able to set a price on this new Reo that is revolutionary when consider this is a seven passenger car.

"This had to be done if, in turn, a demand sufficient to obsorb the capacity of these big plants was to be developed. At a higher price the demand would be less—and on a smaller production schedule the costs and consequently the selling price would have to be more.

"So we had to work out what might be termed a benevolent cycle—a price that would guarantee a quantity demand and a production schedule that would make that price possible.

If distributors opinions constitute a safe criterion we have now a model that will achieve instant popularity and set a new standard in price as well as in type."

What Happened in Des Moines
No. 9

With the State Fair approaching, fair officials realized that they would need street car service to handle the crowds.

Bus men did not admit this.

Just as they had promised to carry the 105,000 daily street car riders, they promised to put on extra buses and carry the fair crowds.

But the fair officials were not to be fooled by the bus men as the city officials had been.

They got permission from the court to resume street car service for the fair period. They guaranteed the company against loss. Cars ran throughout the fair.

The car riders quickly deserted buses when street car service was resumed. Bus business fell off by thousands of passengers.

Inadequate fares and unrestricted bus competition forced the Des Moines street railway to abandon all city service—over 92 miles of lines—on Aug. 4, 1921.

REO
And Now!
A New Light 7-Passenger Car
at $1685!

Here is the most important announcement Reo ever made.

—for this is the greatest value Reo has ever been able to offer.

—and this is, we believe, the most advanced model ever turned out by any factory.

—this new light seven-passenger Touring Car will revolutionize design and set a new standard.

—and finally—its price establishes a new low level of prices and creates a new standard of values.

How has this been accomplished?—is your natural query.

How, in a car whose over-all dimensions are but little longer than its predecessor, have we been able to obtain so much more seating room?

For this most desirable result the Reo builders have actually accomplished.

How?—Why, by converting waste space into passenger capacity.

You will have to see this new Reo to fully appreciate the study, the ingenuity and the clever craftsmanship by which this has been accomplished.

And when you do, your enthusiasm will know no bounds.

How often have you wished for a car that would, on occasion, hold seven?

Yet you would not buy a "seven," because up to now, a car of that capacity was an overgrown, cumbersome, unwieldly affair whose first cost was excessive and whose upkeep was prohibitively so.

There has been a great need for a car of moderate length, of light weight and hence of reasonable upkeep—yet with plenty of power and room for seven.

You have wished for such a car.

Reo dealers have asked for such a car.

Reo craftsmen have sought long and diligently for the solution, and striven unceasingly to produce such a car.

Finally, as a happy inspiration, it came.

And now the long sought, ardently desired, is available to you—at a price that not only is within your reach but which conforms to your idea of values—"The Gold Standard of Values."

It is logical that this advanced model should emanate from the Reo shops.

Pioneering is natural to "The Reo Folk".

Reo has long been known as the "School Master" in the trade.

Just a few instances of Reo pioneering—all of which, received at first in doubt and some with derision, finally became the standard:—

Side door entrance—One Lever, Center Control—Interlocked Clutch and Brake, Electric Starter:

—Many methods and special machine tools that have revolutionized manufacturing were first used in the Reo shops.

And—; Reo was first to put pneumatic tires on a truck—result, that mighty Speed Wagon which has revolutionized transportation and rendered practically every other type obsolete.

That Speed Wagon—which "Fits Every Business" and dominates the field regardless of carrying capacities—was just such an innovation as this.

History will repeat itself.

See this new Reo—you will be delighted with this light, snappy, flexible, beautiful 7-passenger car.

Size makes it ideal to handle on narrow roads or streets, or parking in tight places.

Upkeep and operation costs will be less than heretofore have been possible in a car of 7-passenger capacity.

Need we say this is a quality car? Being a Reo, it must be that. The very terms are synonymous.

Built for the connoisseur—for that select Reo clientele who appreciate and demand the best—this Reo possesses all the inherent quality—the "hidden beauty"—for which the Reo product is famous.

This is the handsomest touring model that ever came from the Reo shops.

Body design conforms to the very latest mode. Long, slightly-curved lines sweep gracefully from radiator to extreme rear—edges beveled, doors flush.

Power and speed and endurance radiate from this new Light Reo.

A car of singular grace and irresistibly inviting.

Ideal for its purpose—long, cross-country touring, camping—"Gypsying" with the entire family.

In a word, this latest example of Reo pioneering is the epitome of Reo experience, and pride of two decades of Reo achievement.

In confidence that it will meet with your enthusiastic acclaim, we present for your approval this New Light 7-passenger Reo.

THE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Columbus Day, October 12th, will be celebrated by the local Council of the Knights of Columbus next Wednesday evening. The entertainment committee headed by George J. Jaeger has arranged a program in which informality and congenality and entertainment will be intermingled. At the meeting this coming Wednesday, the Knights of Columbus will give formal opening to their new club rooms, and it is expected that a large number of members will be on hand for the occasion. The Club Rooms are situated at the southeast corner of Cameron and St. Asaph Streets, and have every feature of a fraternity meeting place. The entertainment committee will have plenty of smokes and refreshments and a good time is in store for all those attending.

The written report of the past State Convention of the order has been received by the Recording Secretary and is now available to the members at the Council Rooms. The report showed great progress for the order in Virginia during the past year and the work done by the Knights of Columbus educational system has received the highest praise from representative citizens throughout the State.

The Club rooms are open every evening from 7 to 10 p. m., and all day on Sunday. The House Committee wants every member to enjoy the advantages of the club, and it pleases to state that the number of men patronizing the club is rapidly increasing.

The first meeting of the council in November will be held in St. James Hall at Falls Church, where there are many members of the Order belonging to Fitzgerald Council. The last meeting of the Knights of Columbus held at Falls Church was a great success; and it is the hope of the Council that an equally large and enthusiastic crowd will go to Falls Church when the meeting is held in November.

The October issue of the Columbia contains a striking picture of the late bereaved Cardinal Gibbons in conversation with his great friend, Theodore Roosevelt. The kindly smile of "our Cardinal" and the physique of the beloved Roosevelt combine to make the picture one well worth framing.

Any K. of C. not receiving COLUMBIA, the official monthly magazine of the order, should notify the Financial Secretary, Brother Lennon, who will see that the magazine is supplied those not getting it.

COMMUNICATIONS

Editor Alexandria Gazette:

It is with considerable surprise and no less regret that I note your recent editorial referring to President Harding's letter upon "the duties of a citizen." I am certain there was nothing the President's letter which justified the partisan twist which your editorial gave to it. The letter was distinctly a non-partisan appeal to all citizens of all parties to perform their duty by exercising their right of suffrage. The President was specific in his statement. "Quite regardless of the effect of the fortunes of particular political parties, I am impressed that there is need for an appeal to voters to perform their duty at the ballot box on election day. There is no more important duty for the citizen than this of voting on the one day in the year when his vote means something. If you can succeed largest vote the state ever cast, I in securing in Virginia this fall the will personally feel you have accomplished a notable civic advantage, quite regardless of the political results."

Certainly nothing in the above words justifies your attempt editorially to make a partisan matter of the President's letter. Neither can you, by any distortion of the English language, justify your charge that the letter contained "veiled innuendo" regarding Virginia's vote in past elections, nor anything to justify your dragging the race question into the discussion of the article.

The size of the total vote cast in any state in any election is an accurate measure of the interest the electorate take in their government. In a representative form of government such as ours, the less interest they take in election matters, the less representative their government is sure to be. Undoubtedly this is what President Harding had in mind when h urged all Virginians, regardless of party, to perform their duties as citizens. The figures which he quoted in his letter show conclusively that Virginians have not taken the interest in their state affairs that should be taken if they expect their public officials properly to reflect the wishes of the tax payers.

The President calls attention that in the last election for governor or 89,812 votes were cast. The census fo 1920 will show that there are not less than 800,000 white voters, male and female in the state of Virginia. That means in the last state election less than one-eighth of the qualified white voters took enough interest in their state affairs to vote. By no stretch of the imagination can such a showing be said to be representative government.

Nothing is more easy to prove than the statement that communities which are politically one-sided are generally misgoverned, to say the least. In a country like ours, where government is by parties, there must be, in order to stimulate public interest and provide a check upon public officials, always a strong minority party ready to criticise in a constructivce manner the mistakes of the majority part and ready to take advantage of those mistakes in an honest and honorable manner by an appeal to the electorate Where such a militant minority does not exist, the majority party become at the best indifferent to the wishes of the people and at the worst becomes corrupt. Fear of public opinion expressing itself through the mediu of a minority party, is the great check upon politicai corruption and official derelictions.

Those commonwealths of the United States which are the best governed, which are the most progressive in relation to public improvements, public education, equitable tax laws, efficient administrative methods, etc., are the states wherein the political parties are almost equal in strength and where every election is closely contested. It is only in such states that the party in power feels the necessity of serving the public and the tax payer, rather than serving party politicians and bosses at a sacrifice of public interests. Because in such states the party in power knows if it does not efficiently and honestly serve the public, the party out of power will make an issue of such shortcomings and successfully appeal for a change of administration.

The same is true in municipal governments. Nothing is more subversive of efficient, honest, economical city government than to have it fall into the hands of a clique or a party, which the minority is never able successfully to challenge, because the community is politically topsided.

Applying these principles, which are fundamental, in any country wh has a representative form of government, to the immediate state campaign in Virginia, one is safe in saying that the greatest need of the state is for every citizen to take an active interest in the discussion of the state's affairs and to take enough personal interest to register his vote on election day.

The great trouble with Virginia, as with a number of other states, has been the chronic condition of political one sidedness, a condition which has made every citizen feel it was not worth his while to make an effort to obtain reforms in public affairs. So long as this condition obtains, so long will misgovernment obtain in Virginia and so long will the public fail to be truly represented in the state's administrative and legislative offices.

There is no race question connected with this situation as shown by the figures above cited. Leaving out of the question all the negro votes, there is only a 12 per cent interest in public affairs among white voters, and no government which is participated in by only 12 per cent of the electorate can be said to be representative. It was an illustrious Virginian who uttered the sentiment "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." That sentiment today remains as true as when Patrick Henry gave voice to it. Eternal vigilance is the price of representative government. It is the price of progressive government. It is the price of economical government. It is the price of an honestly and efficiently administered government. But when less than one-eighth of the qualified white voters of Virginia take enough interest in their government to cast their votes, it can not be said that Virginians are heeding the admonition to be vigilant. The twelve per cent citizen is not a vigilant one. And so, as President Harding truly said, the greatest thing that can happen to Virginia is the election this fall is to poll the largest vote the state has ever cast, not because of the political result, but because of the notable civic advantage such as aroused public interest would be to the affairs of the state.

Respectfully yours,
CHAS. S. STOLER,
Chairman, Publicity Committee

HAD NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Mrs. Ireland Permits us to Publish this Letter for the Benefit of Others Who Are in Her Condition

Warsaw, Missouri.—"For five years I was weakly, nervous and in a run-down condition. Then I had a nervous breakdown and doctors said I would never be well again. After I took seven bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was healthier, stronger, and felt better than I ever did in my life before. I can't praise the Compound enough and will recommend it to all women. You may publish this letter if you think it will help others."—Mrs. FLOYD IRELAND, R. R. 1, Warsaw, Missouri.

Nervous women are both ailing and wretched, and with a nervous breakdown all joy goes out of a woman's life. It is said that the ills peculiar to women act on the nerves like a firebrand.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming such conditions, a large number of American women who were once great sufferers from nerve troubles owe their present health and comfort to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Chickens
A New Play at Poli's
Mark Twain's Masterpiece at Rialto—Western Comedy at Shubert-Garrick

An event of much more than ordinary interest and importance is the first presentation on any stage at Poli's on Sunday evening, October 9th, of a new musical play by the authors of "Irene." The title of this new offering is "Chickens," and this time Mr. Montgomery is said to have drawn from incidents which took place during his boyhood days in New England, where he lived on a farm and knew intimately the characters of the play.

Fox Presents Great Mark Twain Story
Mark Twain's masterpiece, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," has been made into a motion picture on a scale worthy of the subject. Issued as a special production, it will open an engagement at the Moore's Rialto Theatre on Sunday, October 9th, the showing to continue throughout the week.
Known to the multitude of Mark Twain lovers as "The Yankee," this story is regarded not only as a great classic of American humor, but also as a forceful satire directed against those who sigh for the "good old times." Mark Twain set out to show that the world we live in is the best of all possible worlds, and the time we live in is the best of all possible times.

Western Comedy
"Miss Lulu Bett," which Brock Pemberton will present at the Shubert-Garrick Theatre next week, is a three act comedy of Middle Western life. In a small western town with her brother-in-law and her married sister lives Miss Lulu Bett, never "strong enough" to take a job, yet able to do all the housework and serve as the family drudge. Into her cheerless life comes marriage. Apparently an escape from these drab surroundings, it develops into her great tragedy, until, finally, through patient, enduring heroism, comes her release.

Ray Read
Beginning next Sunday at 3 P. M. funny Ray Read will grace the boards at the New Capitol Theatre in the popular Burlesque "Puss Puss." Ray Read heads an all star cast which includes a wonderful chorus of many beautiful girls.

Lew Kelly
Next week at the Gayety Theatre will be seen that foremost of Burlesque entertainers, Lew Kelly, himself, with his entire big show. He is bringing along with him this time a troupe of eighteen beautiful girls and Lew, himself, vouches for their ages. It is claimed that the whole chorus is under 18 years of age.
